

PARTI COLLECTIVE

always opening dancefloors!

For the last 20 years we've been growing as part of a community pushing for a radically just and regenerative society

The metaphor of the dancefloor highlights our approach.

A joyful dancefloor is an expression of human creativity, and behind the spontaneity, are design choices. The DJ's, their music, the location, the atmosphere, the connectivity of the participants, the bravery of the first dancers.

Dancefloors are movements and so are processes.

In order to have open and engaging processes where people really get involved, curation and design are essential.

Our commitment is to designing systems where people can come together, learn, imagine, enjoy and take action to care for future generations of the earth and all its inhabitants.

Now we operate as a collective to facilitate experimentation, transitions and compliance

To transform big decisions into opportunities, our work includes action design, strategic vision and network activation

We support leaders, companies and communities

Based on context and needs we collaborate with innovation agents, researchers, entrepreneurs, designers and technologists to find systems solutions that drive change

We curate memorable retreats, assembling brave thinkers and practitioners
